MIDDLEBOROUGH, MA ~ Spend the day at the Robbins Museum for an activity-filled event featuring a selection of hands-on activities. Try your hand at making talking sticks, pottery, and beadwork. Create parfleches and other traditional native bags. Play traditional games, and win a Scavenger Hunt prize! Meets Scout Patch/Try-it criteria. All crafts and activities will include background information on Native American context and/or use.

This event will be held on Thursday, February 18th from 11:00 am until 2:30 pm. Cost is $8.00 per Family and includes all craft supplies and materials. Scout Groups are also encouraged to attend, as many of our activities link to Patches and Badges! The Robbins Museum is conveniently located 17 Jackson Street, Middleborough, in close proximity to routes 105, 28, 495. 44. Free public parking is available in the lot across the street from the Massachusetts Archaeological Society building, where the museum and its collection of over 10,000 artifacts is housed.

We are open for and invite the public throughout the region.

If your group, daycare, or family is looking for something engaging and special, this is the event for you!
