

SOUTHEAST CHAPTER

GERRY E. STUDDS
STELLWAGEN BANK
NATIONAL MARINE SANCTUARY

Benjamin D. Cowie-Haskell

Ben Cowie-Haskell serves as the deputy superintendent for the Stellwagen Bank National Marine Sanctuary located in Scituate, Massachusetts.

In that capacity he is responsible for vessel and facility operations, diving, maritime heritage, and information technology.

Ben has been with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration for 17 years working to conserve special ocean places such as the Florida Keys and Stellwagen Bank.

Since 2000 he has been working at the Stellwagen Bank sanctuary where he led a team in the confirmation of the location of the historic steamship Portland- New England's Titanic. He has worked at a variety of marine labs on the East Coast and received his Masters degree in marine policy from the University of Maryland.